

When we started to send Caitlin to Aunty Bernice some six months ago, we were just keen to have Caitlin learn to read properly. Caitlin was always a keen learner, but rather shy outside of familiar environments. Bernice noticed these characteristics instantly, and adjusted her teaching methodology to encourage and capture Caitlin's full attention.

Within these few months, she has become noticeably more vocal and outgoing. Bernice has trained her to listen to herself read, allowing Caitlin to correct and perfect her own articulation. It was more amazing when Caitlin started to correct our pronunciation of certain words, like the "th" sound in "The", or "Chil(l)-dren" and not "Ch(er)ldren". We are confident that Bernice has started the foundations for Caitlin to learn reading and speaking for life.

What's more, much more than our initial goal of getting Caitlin to read, she has also learnt some of the critical life-skills like confidence in speech and being self-critical in all that she does. Thank you, Aunty Bernice!
